tailed, but that great local record is at last broken. George W. Leavitt, Eaq., of Boston, scarted from the St. Croix Exchange, in Calais, on Theaday morning last, in Company with two friends, and before dark on the same day returned with seven foxes, bringing not the brushes alone, but the entire carcases of the enimals slain. Five of the seven foxes were shot by Mr. Leavitt himself, but those who were left say he was favored by the wonderful hound which he brought with him to the St. Croix. Anyway the record is knocked out.
